The very next spirit that appeared was my rough friend's mother, and his astonishment and emotion at seeing her were very unmistakable. When first he went up to the cabinet and saw her his head drooped, and his shoulders shook with the sobs he could not repress. ...then I saw him bringing her up to me.

As discussed in "Selecting a Lighting Model," you can choose to have lighting calculations performed differently for the front- and back-facing polygons of objects. If the back faces might indeed be seen, you can supply different material properties for the front and the back surfaces by using the face parameter of `glMaterial*()`. See "Plate 14" in Appendix I for an example of an object drawn ...
